St. Paul's Episcopal Church was erected in 1750, close to the walls of Fort Augusta. Many of the heroes of Revolutionary battles are buried in St. Paul's church yard, which today a spot of great historic interest.

Grandmama & I went to Midnight service in this church on Christmas Eve. The church was lit up with some 100 candles in addition to the many electric lights. On another day we went through the church yard. Love to you all
